

Preventing terrorism and radicalisation

What is Prevent?

Prevent is about safeguarding people and communities from the threat of terrorism. Prevent is 1 of the 4 elements of CONTEST, the Government's counter-terrorism strategy. It is a national strategy aiming to stop people supporting terrorism or becoming violent extremists. Channel is the process that supports people at risk of being drawn towards terrorism or violent extremism.

All forms of extremism

Prevent aims to deal with all forms of extremism including far right racist extremism, animal rights extremism & religious extremism.

Possible risk factors

- Isolation and social exclusion
- Victim of bullying or hate crime
- Family tensions
- Search for personal identity
- Influence/exploitation via the internet
- Extrovert behaviour glorifying violence
- Race & hate crimes
- Personal grievances

Possible signs of radicalisation

- Notable changes in behaviour
- Lack of self esteem
- Expressing extreme political or radical views
- Increasingly sympathetic to terrorists acts
- Change in appearance
- Change of friends
- Spends excessive time on their own or on the internet

How to make a referral

By raising your concerns & making a referral using the National Prevent Referral Form to preventreferrals@met.police.uk and childrensfirstcontactservice@sutton.gov.uk.

You can help someone you believe is at risk of radicalisation get support and prevent them becoming involved in potentially violent activities, long before any criminal activity occurs.

For guidance, consult your Prevent Practice Lead or Sutton's Prevent Lead at prevent@sutton.gov.uk.

If you see or hear something that could be terrorist related, trust your instincts and call the confidential Anti-terrorist Hotline: 0800789321. In an emergency, always call 999.
